

Time to stein!

German Fest promises uber-fun for all

NORTH AMERICA'S largest German celebration, German Fest, returns once again to Milwaukee's Summerfest grounds, July 24 – July 27, with an even headier brew of authentic German food, music and surprises. In fact, organizers have added so much fun, they've had to add a day just to fit it all in. For the first time, the Fest will begin on Thursday evening with the Usinger's Sausage "Family Fun Night".

Building on last year's efforts to reach out to a broader, younger audience, German Fest has assembled a delectable smorgasbord that combines exciting new attractions and traditional favorites. Highlights include the return of the popular Dachshund Races on Saturday afternoon and the debut of "Rhapsody in Boom", a dazzling fireworks display set to the music of the German masters on Sunday evening. German Fest is also offering free admission for those attending The Police concert on Friday evening at the Marcus Amphitheater, located on the festival grounds.

In addition, German Fest features nonstop entertainment on nine stages, a German cultural village and the always entertaining Yodeling, Tuba and Alphorn contests. Oh, and yes, it is German Fest—you'll also find plenty of beer, over 25 German and Austrian wines and, of course, chilled Jagermeister.

For a complete schedule and tickets, check www.germanfest.com

Try the real Bavarian soft pretzels

Dachshund races

Your Police concert ticket gives you a free admission to German Fest

